Dear Dr. Burleigh:

According to Ontario Bureau of Archives 2nd Annual Report (1904), p. 484, John Freeman's daughter Mary was the wife of _____ Moxen (Mosier), and his daughter Dorcas of _____ Scott. On p. 485 Lewis Mosher petitioned on 17 March 1788, saying that he was the brother-in-law of John Freeman, Jr., Had been born in America, was living in 1775 at Saratoga, had joined the British army in 1777, and served all during the war. He presented a certificate from Capt. Simeon Covell to that effect.

We have Lewis Mosher as a presumed son of Jabez⁴ (Nicholas^{3,2}, Hugh¹) because of circumstantial evidence:

1 Jabez⁴ had moved to Cambridge, Washington Co., N. Y., about 1766, not more than fifteen miles from Saratoga.

2 Jabez' son Hezekiah joined the British army about 1778 and went to Augusta twp., United Counties of Leeds and Grenville, to live.

3 Simeon Covell had married Jabez Mosher's sister Susannah before he went to Canada.

We have tried to find proof of Lewis Mosher's paternity, and are still hoping that a descendant with such family records can be found.

Many descendant of Hugh Mosher spell the name Mosier. The Hezekiah mentioned above is Mosier in his 1817, 1819, and 1820 censuses, but Mosher 1800-04.

Sincerely yours,

Laura M. Clarenbach

PUBLICATION ANNOUNCEMENT

DESCENDANTS OF HUGH MOSHER AND REBECCA MAXSON

by Mildred (Mosher) Chamberlain and Laura (McGaffey) Clarenbach

808 pp., indexed
September 1980

$22.50 (postpaid in U. S.)

This book is a record of the descendants of the Hugh Mosher who was born about 1633 and was in Rhode Island by 1660, later living in Portsmouth and Newport, Rhode Island, and in Dartmouth, Massachusetts. He was probably the progenitor of most of the Mosher's in the United States and Canada. The history covers seven generations of the family, plus names (and birthdates if known) of children of seventh-generation parents, some born as recently as 1910. Living descendants of Hugh Mosher may be enabled to connect with these preceding generations and thus know forbears from the time of the Pilgrim Fathers.

To avoid misunderstanding: this Hugh Mosher should be distinguished from the Hugh Mosier who arrived in Boston on the James in 1632, was living in Maine by 1635, and died in Casco Bay, Maine, in 1666. Some persons believe that Mosier was the father of Hugh Mosher, but there are no known supporting documents. Apparently, Hugh Mosier's descendants in the 17th and 18th centuries included the Mosier, Mosher, and Moger families of Brookhaven, Long Island; Westchester County and Fishkill, Dutchess County, New York; New London and Greenwich, Connecticut; Pepperell, Massachusetts; and Gorham, Maine. Records do not seem to exist that establish the exact lineage of any of Hugh Mosier's descendants beyond the third generation.

The book is being printed by Edwards of Ann Arbor, Michigan, and it is to be available for mailing in September 1980. Remittances should accompany orders.

Would you pass this information along to others who might be interested in this genealogy? (See other side of this sheet for profiles of the compilers.)

About the Compilers

Mildred (Mosher) Chamberlain of Warwick, Rhode Island, has spent 15 years researching the Mosher family, using primary sources in Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Maine, and Nova Scotia; family records from correspondents; and secondary records elsewhere. She has spent 25 years in the nursing field as a registered nurse specializing in obstetrics, the last five years as supervisor for maternal/child health in a Warwick hospital. She is a Mayflower descendant (RI 810) of George Soule and Francis Cooke; a charter member of the Nurses Association, American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists; a member of the Rhode Island Historical Society; and a member of the Rhode Island Genealogical Society.

Laura (McGaffey) Clarenbach of Madison, Wisconsin, has researched the Mosher families for almost 30 years, studying records in many counties of New York, Ohio, and Michigan; records in the National Archives, the Library of Congress, the NSDAR Library, and the Wisconsin State Historical Society Library; family letters from correspondents; and secondary materials in the same libraries. She was co-compiler of "Joshua³ Cook (Josiah², Josiah¹)," New England Historical and Genealogical Register, April and July 1972; compiler of the section on descendants of Peter Ferdinand Clarenbach in Band 168, Deutsches Geschlechterbuch, published in Germany in 1974; compiler of two articles on another Mosher family in the New York Historical and Biographical Record, 1980; and compiler of a typescript, "The Ancestors of Joseph Duell of Warren, Herkimer County, New York." She has also compiled for private distribution five volumes on the ancestry of her grandchildren and one on the descendants of Neal⁴ McGaffey (Andrew³, John², and Neal¹), born 1791. She has a master's degree in American history from the University of Kansas and has had further graduate work at Cornell University, the University of Missouri, and the University of Wisconsin. She is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and the Wisconsin State Historical Society and is a descendant of eleven Mayflower passengers.

I am not a descendant of the Mosher's, but a Mosher who was a boy during the Revolution and settled in Canada and was named the Doctor, son of John Freeman. If there possible appear in your book, I might be interested.
